Introduction

South Lanarkshire Child Protection Committee offers this pack, which has been revised to reflect the changes in practice from the refreshed National Guidance for Child Protection in Scotland 2014, the guidance can be view here: The pack is a learning tool to ensure those involved in the protection of children and young people whether directly or indirectly, including those working in adult services, have as a minimum, a foundation knowledge of child protection. This popular Self-Learning Pack – Understanding Child Protection forms a key part of our training materials and offers essential information on child protection issues for those who may not need to attend a training event, only require a foundation level information, or are waiting to start their training with us.

The information contained should always be treated as FIRST STEP information for those with an interest in child protection and does not replace the need to take the further learning steps you may need. Professionals, volunteers and members of local community groups can access our full Child Protection Learning & Development Programme (FREE) and find out how to apply for a place from our wide range of other courses by visiting our website or by emailing us to: PublicProtectionOfficer@southlanarkshire.gov.uk. Some of our multi-agency courses are now offered online, via webinars and other means too. Visit us at www.childprotectionsouthlanarkshire.org.uk. The Child Protection Awareness Course is recommended as the next step after completion of this pack.

The National CPCScotland (Child Protection Committees Scotland) website created in 2020 is an excellent resource and offers clear information about abuse, harm and neglect here: www.childprotection.scot/ you can help by sharing this link with colleagues too.

What's involved in completing this?

The materials are designed to enable you to recognise a child protection situation and understand your role in ensuring the continued protection of children and young people in South Lanarkshire.

Throughout the pack, activities are provided which are intended to offer an opportunity for practitioners / volunteers and their managers / group leaders to reflect on the learning achieved and identify future learning needs. On completion, practitioners will have sufficient foundation knowledge in child protection to get started, and will be well placed to derive maximum opportunity from CPC Training and Development opportunities available.

South Lanarkshire Child Protection Committee would wish to acknowledge the support of other CPC's in the shared development of this pack.

Aims and Learning Outcomes

This Pack is suitable as a first step for: Those working within South Lanarkshire including Social Work Resources, NHS Lanarkshire, Police Scotland, Education Resources, Housing and Technical Resources, Voluntary Organisations, Community Groups, SCRA, Youth Services and other partners with a role in the protection of children and young people in South Lanarkshire. This includes those working in Adult Services.

It will provide:

- An introduction to child protection and
- An opportunity to explore your role in the protection of children and young people.

On completion you will have:

- Examined child abuse in the context of your work
- Increased your knowledge about how to recognise and respond to child protection issues
- Explored the child protection process in South Lanarkshire
- An awareness of your own agency child protection procedures
- A foundation knowledge of child protection and be aware of further training opportunities
- Have identified your own further learning needs in child protection

On completion of the pack, you will have located and considered:

1. The South Lanarkshire Child Protection Committee Website:
www.childprotectionsouthlanarkshire.org.uk
2. The West of Scotland Inter-agency Online Child Protection Procedures available here:
3. Your own agency child protection procedures and relevant documentation used for recording and referring cases where there is a concern that a child or young person may have been harmed or may be at risk of harm.

What is Child Protection?

“Child Protection” means protecting a child from child abuse or neglect. Abuse or neglect need not have taken place; it is sufficient for a risk assessment to have identified a likelihood or risk of significant harm from abuse or neglect. Equally, in instances where a child may have been abused or neglected but the risk of future abuse has not been identified, the child and their family may require support and recovery services but not a Child Protection Plan. In such case, an investigation may still be necessary to determine whether a criminal investigation is needed. There are circumstances where, although abuse has taken place, formal child protection procedures are not required. Always discuss your concerns. Key services will make the appropriate decision based on information received.

KEY MESSAGE: If you think a child may be in immediate danger you must contact Police on 999 right away. Let them know you are concerned a child is at risk.

Identifying Child Abuse

In order to protect children and young people from abuse, all those working around children and their families should have some understanding of child protection issues and be confident in the recognition of and response to child abuse.

From 2014, children and young people are no longer registered under a specific category of abuse in Scotland, instead the definitions below will form part of a whole host of Indicators of Concern that can be viewed here in the National Child Protection Guidance in Scotland and will assist us identify when child abuse has / or is likely to occur.

The definitions below are as described in the National Guidance and you should take time to read these, and to familiarise yourself with signs that may concern you. It is also important to consider other indicators of concern / risk such as Neglect, Physical Abuse, Sexual Abuse, Parental Drug and Alcohol Misuse, Domestic Abuse, Challenging Families, Mental Health Problems, Fabricated or Induced Illness, Child Sexual Exploitation, Child placing themselves at risk, and any other concerns identified in any assessment.

Practitioners who carry out child protection investigation are required to use the National Risk Assessment Framework for Children and Young People (2012).

Physical Abuse

Physical abuse is the causing of physical harm to a child or young person. Physical abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning or suffocating. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer feigns the symptoms of, or deliberately causes, ill health to a child they are looking after.

Emotional Abuse

Emotional abuse is the persistent emotional neglect or ill treatment that has severe and persistent adverse effects on a child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may involve the imposition of age or developmentally inappropriate expectations on a child. It may involve causing children to feel frightened or in danger, or exploiting or corrupting children. Some levels of emotional abuse are present in all types of ill treatment of a child; it can also occur independently of other forms of abuse.

Sexual Abuse

Sexual abuse is any act that involves the child in any activity for the sexual gratification of another person, whether or not it is claimed the child consented or assented. Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child to take part in sexual activities, whether or not the child is aware what is happening. The activities may include physical contact, including penetrative or non-penetrative acts. They may include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, pornographic material or in watching sexual activities, using sexual language towards a child or encouraging children to behave in a sexually inappropriate ways.

Neglect

Neglect is one of the most common and widespread forms of child abuse in Scotland. Neglect happens when there is a persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and / or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. It may involve a parent or carer failing to provide adequate food, shelter and clothing, to protect a child from physical harm or danger, or to ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include the neglect of, or failure to respond to, a child's basic emotional needs. Neglect may also result in the child being diagnosed as suffering from "non-organic failure to thrive" where they have significantly failed to reach normal weight and growth or development milestones and where physical and genetic reasons have been medically eliminated. In its extreme form children can be at serious risk from the effects of malnutrition, lack of nurturing and stimulation. This can lead to serious long-term effects such as greater susceptibility to serious childhood illnesses and reduction in potential stature. With young children in particular, the consequences may be life threatening within a relatively short period of time.

Child Abuse: Recognition and Response

If you have any concern about a child or young person, it is important that you share this information with the relevant people. Appendix 1 provides a useful summary of the roles and responsibilities of each agency in the protection of children and young people.

Physical Abuse

Physical abuse is when a child is deliberately hurt or injured by another person causing physical harm that may or may not need medical intervention. The Children (Equal Protection from Assault) (Scotland) Act 2019 has amongst other things effectively banned smacking or any other form of physical punishment. Physical abuse may occur from an actual attack to a child or an adult's deliberate failure to protect them from injury or suffering. Accompanied by neglect, physical abuse is the most common form of maltreatment of children and is the most common cause of child death from abuse.

- A child may be hit, punched, kicked or bitten
- Grab marks/bilateral bruising (similar marks on both sides of body / head)
- Shaking a child is extremely dangerous and potentially fatal, babies are particularly at risk. They may be floppy, pale or generally look very unwell.
- A child may be burned or deliberately scalded
- A child may be squeezed with violence or attempted suffocation
- Deliberate poisoning (household substances, alcohol, drugs or medicines)
- Shut in cupboards / Confined in small places
- Small child placed in harm's way, such as access to unsecured stairs (no stairgate)

Signs that should concern you:

- Unexplained Injuries (bruising, bruised eyes, fractured or broken bones, burn or bite marks, finger-tip bruising or grab marks)
- Perplexing illnesses
- Continuous "accidents"
- An unlikely (or no) explanation for an injury
- A continual pattern of accidents or injuries
- A child may be reluctant to change for physical activities at school etc.

Behavioural indicators Include:

- A child who is very reluctant to return home
- A child who appears withdrawn / in pain or discomfort
- A child who is resistant to going home or coming into contact with one family member or an adult known to them
- Self-harm, self-destructiveness
- Persistent aggression and violent play

Emotional Abuse

All children and young people who are abused are affected emotionally because all types of child abuse are harmful. Emotional abuse is a persistent emotional neglect or ill treatment that has severe and persistent adverse effects on a child's emotional development.

- Children may be verbally abused – told they are stupid, useless, ugly or should never have been born
- Subjected to continuous criticism or faced with unrealistically high expectations
- Their interests and achievements may be ridiculed or compared unfavourably
- Affection given by parents is dependent on the child's behaviour or achievements
- Children may be overprotected to an unrealistic extent
- Communication with the child may be distorted so that the adult uses his/her maturity inappropriately to make the child feel guilty
- Children may have their toys withdrawn, denied or sold by parents/carers as a punishment
- Children may be denied access to an absent parent through parental alienation
- Children may be emotionally damaged by experiences of domestic abuse

Signs that should concern you about a child or young person:

- Child is developmentally delayed
- Child indicates through the use of words and body language that they think they are worthless, stupid or unattractive
- Children expect blame and punishment (or blame themselves)
- Children may harm themselves
- Children may find it difficult to make friends and see themselves as not being likeable
- Children may be mistrusting of adults
- Low self-esteem or self-worth
- Lack of confidence in trying anything new
- Sudden speech and language difficulties
- Significant decline in concentration
- Head banging or rocking
- Compulsive stealing (from parents/carers/teachers)
- Extremes of passivity or aggression
- Running away
- Indiscriminate friendliness

Neglect

Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs. Often difficult to assess in practice, some recent child death inquiry reports have highlighted the consequences of neglect on children and this, alongside an apparent increase in neglected children has brought about a renewed focus on neglect.

- Inadequate food – leading to children and young people being malnourished
- Inadequate clothing (for time of year; shoes too tight; ill-fitting clothing; dirty and unwashed clothing)
- Neglect of children's basic physical needs (dirty, smelly, unkempt)
- Leaving young children unattended.

Signs that should concern you:

- Child / young person may be too thin / extremely overweight
- Child / young person may be tired and lethargic and uninterested in others
- Child / young person may appear to ask for food, is constantly hungry, eating large amounts when offered or storing / hiding food.
- Child / young person may be regularly dressed inappropriately for the weather
- Clothes may be dirty, smelly, unkempt or soiled
- Parents may not bring the child to school on a regular basis
- Frequent lateness and/or unexplained non-attendance at school
- Child / young person may have untreated medical conditions or infections
- Low self-esteem or self-worth

Ask: are all the children in the family neglected or is it only one child/ young person?

Sexual Abuse

Child sexual abuse is when a child is forced or persuaded into sexual activity. This is a criminal offence in Scotland. Sexual Abuse is any act that involved a baby, child or older child in any activity for the sexual gratification of another person, whether or not it is claimed the child consented or assented. It can happen at home, at another household know to them or online and include:

- Penetrative or non-penetrative acts
- Non-contact activities, such as watching pornographic material
- Pornographic images
- Grooming either online or in the real world
- Child Sexual Exploitation (see website for specific information and public information on the Professionals page here www.childprotectionsouthlanarkshire.org.uk)

Those concerned about Sexual Abuse can find comprehensive advice and information for professionals her at www.stopitnow.org.uk

Social Media & Online Safety

THIS IS AN INCREASINGLY CONCERNING ISSUE IN CHILD PROTECTION

www.childprotectionsouthlanarkshire.org.uk

As with any kind of child abuse, there is no definite list of signs of sexual abuse. The following are not in themselves absolute evidence of sexual abuse. Concerns must be placed within an understanding of the normal range of children's development:

- Highly sexualised behaviour, rather than affectionate physical contact
- Abused children may express their worries and experiences through play
- Sexually explicit paintings or drawings
- Sexual knowledge or curiosity (unlikely for their age)
- Children can tell you unhappy secrets or games that they are uneasy about
- Regression in development
- Self-harm / low self-esteem
- A child not wishing to go with a certain adult or be looked after by a certain person (i.e. Babysitter)
- Running away, going missing
- Money, goods from unknown source

Physical Signs can include:

- Pain, itching or redness in intimate areas
- Bruising, bleeding or soreness

A note about Child Sex Offenders

Abusers may be extremely frightening and threaten to hurt the child or someone they care about. Abusers may claim that nobody will believe the child if they tell (and may threaten the child with this).

Some abusers will attempt to bribe children with presents, treats or money or work to convince children that what they are doing is a normal and acceptable activity within the family or between friends.

Abusers come from all classes, professions, racial and religious backgrounds and can be anyone – family members, neighbours, friends, doctors, community group helpers, even professional colleagues. Most known abusers are men, but some women sexually abuse their own or other children. Young people also abuse children. About one third of reported cases involve young people. We recommend www.thinkyouknow.co.uk for information and support for children of all ages. You can also visit www.ceop.police.uk for support.

What is Significant Harm in Child Protection?

Child Protection is closely linked to “significant harm”. It is a complex matter and subject to professional judgement based on multi-agency assessment of the circumstances of the child and their family. Where there are concerns about harm, abuse or neglect, these must be shared with the relevant agencies so that they can decide together whether the harm is, or is likely to be, significant.

Significant harm can result from a specific incident, a series of incidents or an accumulation of concerns over a period of time. It is essential that when considering the presence or likelihood of significant harm that the impact (or potential impact) on the child takes priority. Key professionals will take a number of things into account when exercising their professional judgement. There are no absolute criteria for judging what constitutes significant harm, talking to other agencies and sharing / gathering information will be a priority.

Those working / living in the community are often the first to have a concern. Tell us when you have a concern. As a member of the public you have a right to remain anonymous. You can request anonymity as a professional.

Information Sharing & Child Protection

Getting it Right for Every Child (GIRFEC) approach and child protection practice supports the need for robust sharing of information that includes concerns about a child's safety or wellbeing. By definition wellbeing is defined by the eight Wellbeing Indicators – safe, healthy, active, nurtured, achieving, respected, responsible, included. Staff do not need to seek consent to share this information but it is good practice to inform the child and family that this is happening and to record the decision to share and with whom. For further information please see Lanarkshire's Information Sharing Partners Information Sharing for Adults, Children and Young People Consent and Confidentiality: A Good Practice Guide. You can also access a host of information about GIRFEC on the Scottish Government website or <http://www.girfecinlanarkshire.co.uk/> .

Sharing appropriate information is an essential component of child protection. To secure the best outcomes for children, practitioners need to understand when it is appropriate to seek or share information. These general principles should apply:

- The well-being of a child is of central importance when making decisions to lawfully share information with or about them.
- Children have a right to express their views and have them taken into account when decisions are made about what should happen to them.
- The reasons why information needs to be shared and particular actions taken should be communicated openly and honestly with children and where appropriate, their families.

In general information will normally be shared with the permission of the child (depending on age and maturity). However, where there are concerns that seeking permission would increase the risk to the child or others, or prejudice any subsequent investigation information may need to be shared without consent. In child protection situations it is not required.

At all times, information should be relevant, necessary and proportionate to the circumstances of the child, and limited to those who need to know.

When information is shared, a record should be made of when it was shared, with whom, for what purpose, in what form and whether it was disclosed with or without informed consent. Similarly, any decision not to share information and the rationale should be recorded.

You can find out more and Information Sharing and GDPR by visiting www.ico.org.uk

What to say to families when sharing information without consent

When concerns about children's safety or welfare require a professional or agency to share confidential information without the person's consent, they should tell the person that they intend to do so, unless this may place the child, or others, at greater risk of harm. They should also tell them what information and to whom that information will be disclosed. Each agency should make clear to people using their service that the welfare and protection of children is the most important consideration when deciding whether or not to share information with others. No agency can guarantee absolute confidentiality as both statute and common law accept that information may be shared in some circumstances.

EXERCISE 2

My agency child protection procedures are located:

---

I have read the child protection procedures in my workplace setting and/or have accessed relevant documents from the South Lanarkshire Child Protection Committee Website.

Signed _____ Date _____

It is important that anyone working with children and young people refers to their own agency child protection procedures (or the information provided on our website) whenever there is a concern that a child or young person has been harmed or may be at risk of being harmed.

If I am concerned or worried about a child or young person, I should be aware of whom I need to talk to and how to make a referral.

The designated child protection person in my organisation is:

Their contact details are:

---

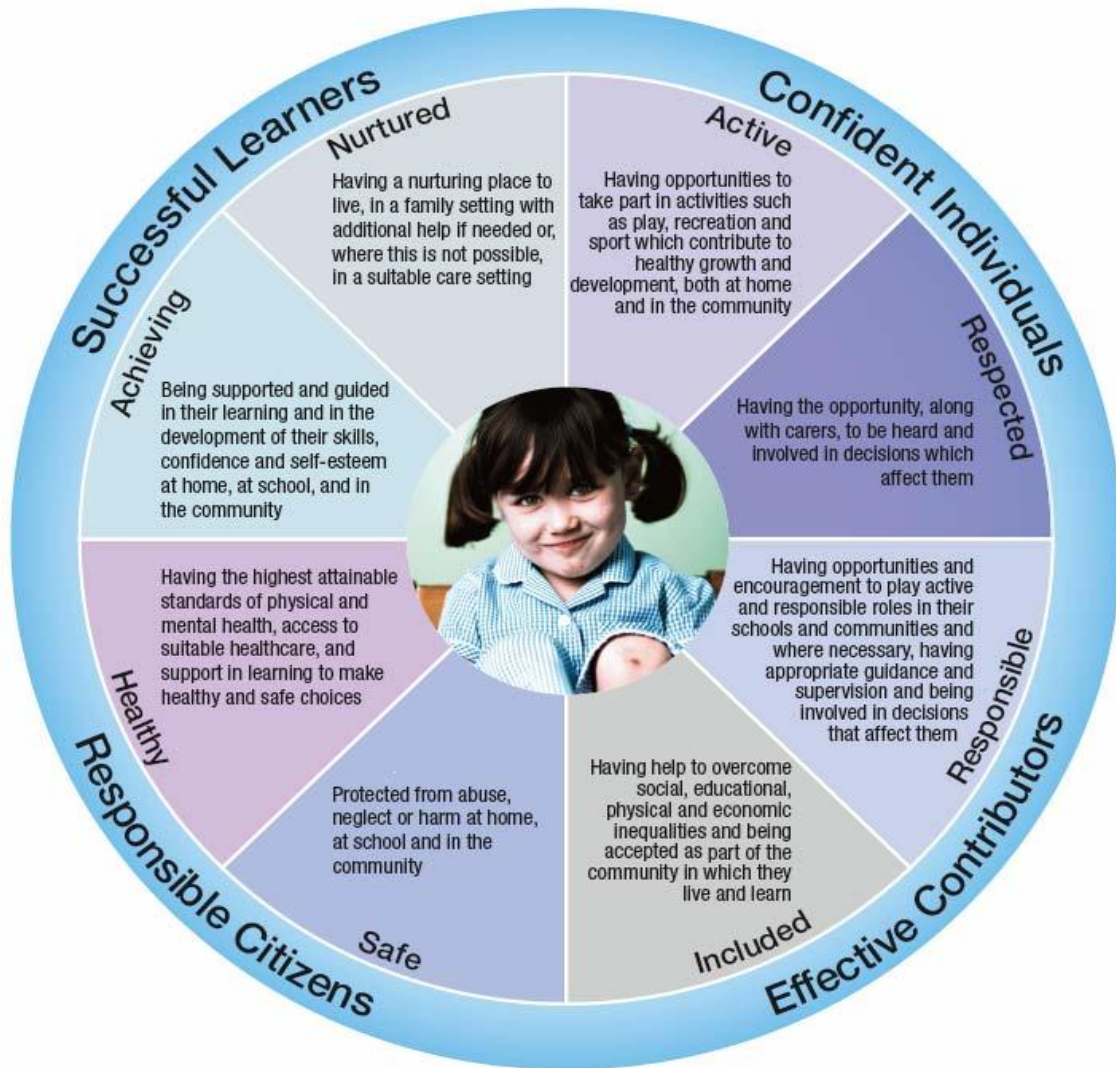

I should also remember to:

- Record the actions you have taken as soon as practicable, signed and dated preferably within 24 hours.
- Follow a verbal referral with a written referral within 24 hours, to the relevant Social Services Team.
- Discuss with my line manager / designated child protection person

GETTING IT RIGHT

We all carry out basic assessments related to Well-Being every day. If you have a concern, why not ask yourself. Am I satisfied the child or young person you know is having their needs met? Put this together with the information provided in this pack and from our website and it should give you the answer you need. REMEMBER to always discuss with your child protection officer. You can find out more here:

Young People - Getting It Right / Wellbeing

www.childprotectionsouthlanarkshire.org.uk

Responding to a Child Protection Concern

It is important that practitioners / staff recognise that children and young people are harmed or are at risk of harm from those people who are supposed to care for them. If you are concerned about a child but unsure whether they are being abused, simply discuss your concerns with the identified child protection person in your organisation.

If a child / young person tells you someone may have abused them;

DO

Stay Calm
Listen to the Child
Keep questions to a minimum
Reassure child
Record what the child has said
in their own words

DON'T

Ask too many questions
Make false promises
Express shock or anger
Delay in passing on your concerns

NEVER

Carry out an investigation into an allegation this is NOT your role.

Notification of Concern / Making a Referral

Once you have discussed your concerns with the designated child protection person in your organisation, you may decide to share your concerns with Social Services or the Police.

You will require share as much of the following information as you have:

- Child's name, address and date of birth
- Parent's address and current whereabouts
- Where the child is and their views where known
- Your details
- Your involvement with the child
- What are your concerns
- Details of alleged abuse
- Whether there are any other children in the household
- Whether the parents / carers are aware of your concerns

REMEMBER

YOU SHOULD ALWAYS REFER TO YOUR CHILD PROTECTION PROCEDURES

Or VISIT THE SLCPC WEBSITE!!!

The Child Protection Process

A Quick Guide

NOTIFICATION OF CHILD PROTECTION CONCERN

Where there are concerns regarding abuse and / or neglect, an agency makes a Notification of Child Protection Concern to Social Work or Police

INITIAL REFERRAL DISCUSSION (IRD)

Multi-agency (Police, Social Work, Health & Education) discussion convened on receipt of Notification of CP Concern. As part of the IRD information will be shared and decisions will be made on how to progress the referral – No further Action / Joint Police Social Work investigation

INITIAL CHILD PROTECTION CONFERENCE

When there are significant concerns that a child may be / or is at risk of abuse, more immediate action may be taken to keep the child safe

DECISION ON REGISTRATION

The CP conference decides whether child (ren) should be placed on the child protection register and whether a referral to the Scottish Children's Reporter's Authority is required.

CHILD PROTECTION PLAN MULTI-AGENCY CORE GROUP

Multi-agency intervention/support/protection plan

REGULAR CORE GROUPS

A Review of the child protection plan to consider progress being made in protecting the child / young person

REVIEW CHILD PROTECTION CONFERENCES

A meeting to consider whether continued Registration is required

DE-REGISTRATION

Ongoing support & services considered

N.B. Following a referral and an initial assessment, there will be a decision made about whether the Child Protection Process will proceed or not. You do not have to make decision about whether something is child protection or not, it is important that you share your concern.

The Child Protection Process Explained

Child Protection Case Conference

A Child Protection Case Conference is a multi-agency meeting where information relevant to concerns about abuse, or risk of abuse, is shared and considered, and decisions are made regarding the future protection of children. The roles and tasks of key agency personnel are clarified at a Child Protection Case Conference. A Child Protection Case Conference will be arranged, where it appears there may be risks to child (ren) within a household and there is a need to share and assess information and if it is felt that a child or young person would benefit from an inter-agency Child Protection Plan that addresses the risk of significant harm.

Child Protection Plan

Where the conference decides to place a child's name on the child protection register, a plan must be agreed by the conference to reduce risk to the child and provide support to the family. The multi-agency plan based on the wellbeing indicators (sometimes referred to as the SHANARRI Indicators) is referred to as the Child Protection Plan. It complies with the Getting it Right for Every Child (GIRFEC) approach and relies on all partners and the Lead Professional to ensure a child is getting the help they need when they need it.

Child Protection Register

The Child Protection Register is the system in place for alerting professionals that there is sufficient concern about a child or young person to warrant an inter-agency Child Protection Plan. The local authority Social Work Service are responsible for maintaining a Register of all children who are subject of an inter-agency Child Protection Plan, which provides a point of enquiry for professionals who are concerned about a child's well-being or safety. The multi-agency Child Protection Case Conference takes the decision of whether or not to place a child's name on the Child Protection Register.

A child's name will remain on the Child Protection Register until such times as the risk to the child or young person is significantly reduced. After the initial Child Protection Case Conference regular reviews will take place as required until such times as the child is removed from the Register.

Core Group

Core Groups provide an important mechanism to ensure a co-ordinated approach to the protection of a child. A Core Group is set up in all cases where a decision has been reached to place a child on the Child Protection Register. The primary purpose of the core group is the implementation of the Child Protection Plan.

The purpose of the Core Group is to ensure that an identified multi-agency group of professionals working alongside the family, to identify desired outcomes for the child / ren, ensuring that the agreed tasks are being carried out, and to continuously review the risk to the child or young person.

Exploring your role

In relation to what you might be expected to do after making a notification of child protection concern, take the opportunity to discuss the implications for you in relation to these tasks with your line manager or the person in your organisation responsible for child protection.

Please complete:

1. What will your role be in the child protection process?

2. What support might you need?

3. Do you need training now?

4. What future learning needs may you have?

It should always be treated as FIRST STEP information for those with an interest in this area

Roles and Responsibilities of Agencies involved in Child Protection

All agencies working with children and young people have a shared responsibility for protecting children and young people and safeguarding their welfare. Local authorities have a specific legal duty in terms of the Children (Scotland) Act 1995 and the Children's Hearing (Scotland) Act 2011 to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and young people in need in their area. This welfare responsibility is carried out by the local authority department with responsibility for social services. Those bodies responsible for education, health, the police and other agencies with a role in providing children's services also have significant responsibilities for the protection of children and young people. The refreshed National Guidance for Child Protection in Scotland 2014 provides guidance on how agencies and professionals should work together to protect children and young people from abuse and neglect, and to safeguard and promote their welfare. The duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and young people in need falls upon the local authority as a whole and embraces social work services, education, housing and any other relevant services required to safeguard and promote the welfare of such children and young people.

The roles and responsibilities of agencies in touch with parents and children to promote children's welfare and protection are set out in national guidance on inter-agency co-operation in child protection, and on implementation of the Children (Scotland) Act 1995. Agencies working with vulnerable families either directly or indirectly including Adult Services, should be familiar with this guidance.

It's everyone's job to play their part in gathering and sharing of information and to take responsibility for the welfare and safety of vulnerable children. However, the danger of it being everyone's responsibility is that it may in practice become no one's. It is therefore important to identify roles and responsibilities of agencies and individuals that are implicit and explicit in these protocols.

Professionals must always consider these key points

- Children and young people's welfare and safety must be the paramount consideration when decisions are made about them
- Children and young people have the right to safety, stability and security of care
- Children and young people have a right to express their views and for their views to be taken into account when decisions are made about them
- Children and young people have a right to express concerns in confidence in so far as their safety and that of others is not compromised
- Sexual exploitation of children through prostitution is abuse.
- Children and young people cannot consent to their own abuse and exploitation
- Children and young people have the right to be protected from abuse and exploitation.
- Agencies should work in partnership with children and young people
- Agencies should work in partnership with parents/carers
- Agencies should work in collaboration to protect and support children and young people

It is important to recognise the responsibilities of those with parental duties for children and young people including local authorities where they are acting in loco parentis.

Social Services

Social Services are committed to the principle of promoting a child's right to be brought up in a safe and loving environment by their family. The welfare and safety of the child, however, is the paramount consideration. Social Services will always take seriously any information received regarding the welfare of a child. Action taken will be informed and sympathetic, and in the best interests of the child. In all aspects of child protection the Social Work Service is committed to working closely with other agencies.

Police

The Public Protection Unit - Police Scotland has a role to work jointly with key agencies to ensure that all investigations are carried out in a sensitive, sympathetic and child centred manner. A co-ordinated response will be based on consultation and information sharing, and, where necessary, will involve joint interviews by a Police Officer and a Social Worker as part of a multi-agency assessment.

In the majority of cases of child abuse, a criminal offence may have been committed. The Police have a statutory duty to investigate the circumstances and, where evidence of a crime exists, to report the facts to the Procurator Fiscal. Police involvement does not automatically result in an alleged offender being prosecuted. The Police have a duty to pass on information to the Children's Reporter (SCRA) regarding children and young people who are found to be vulnerable, whether or not there are grounds for criminal prosecution.

Scottish Children's Reporters Administration (SCRA)

Under Section 56 of the Children (Scotland) Act 1995, the Children's Reporter is required to investigate referrals received. In child abuse cases, most referrals are received from the Social Services or the Police, but may originate from other sources, e.g. Schools, Health staff and members of the public. On receipt of a referral, the Children's Reporter will investigate the facts to establish whether these are sufficient to frame grounds of referral for consideration by a Children's Hearing. This involves requesting reports on incidents and/or taking statements from witnesses in order to gather evidence on the abuse, whether physical (involving an injury or neglect), sexual or emotional. Witnesses, including for example, doctors and health visitors, may be required to give evidence relating to the child abuse.

Where there is sufficient evidence, the Children's Reporter will decide whether compulsory measures of supervision are required and a Hearing is necessary, or whether voluntary supervision, a warning or advice is required.

Education

Educational Services has a role within child protection to identify children and young people who may be victims of abuse. In this role school staff need to be aware of signs and symptoms of abuse. They should observe carefully the behaviour and demeanour of children and young people and, when approached, take time to listen. Any concern or suspicions the teacher might have, no matter how trivial they may seem at the time, should be recorded on their child protection referral form, in consultation with the identified Child Protection Co-ordinator for the school. Where a specific concern is noted as a child protection issue the designated Child Protection Co-ordinator, using their own agencies child protection procedures, will take the appropriate action, e.g. contact with the Social Work Service or Police.

NHS Lanarkshire

NHS Lanarkshire are committed to promoting and protecting the health and welfare of all children and young people in South Lanarkshire. Where a specific child protection concern is noted staff will, using their own agencies child protection procedures, contact the designated Child Protection Advisor and will then take the appropriate action, e.g. contact with the Social Services or Police.

Housing

South Lanarkshire Council Housing and Technical Resources have a responsibility to house children and young people. Housing applicants with children and young people may be given priority because of their potential vulnerability, and will be given priority when fleeing domestic violence. Other priorities include young people over the age of 16 for whom the Council has a duty of care and who may need accommodation and support to maintain their tenancy.

Housing staff therefore have a clear responsibility in relation to child protection and should be familiar both with these guidelines and their own child protection procedures for reporting concerns when these arise.

Community Groups

All Community Groups, staff and volunteers who are employed in a child care position provide a wide range of services and therefore have regular direct contact with children and young people of all ages up to 18 years. Practitioners are committed to safeguarding and promoting the interests and wellbeing of children and young people with whom they work. Staff will take all reasonable steps to protect children and young people from harm and abuse, and will respect their rights at all times.

All community groups have a responsibility to protect children from harm or abuse and will refer to their own procedures when dealing with concern.

Voluntary Organisations

The voluntary sector in South Lanarkshire plays an important role in supporting children, young people and families.

In the interests of protecting children and young people, each voluntary organisation will have a clear Child Protection Policy detailing its procedures. If an organisation has a concern in relation to the safety or well-being of a child they will always contact social services to share their concern.

Further information on Voluntary and Community Groups roles and responsibility can be found in “SLCPC Protecting Children and Young People Guidance for Voluntary and Independent Sector 2019” on the Voluntary/Community Page of the website.

Local Communities

The community as a whole has responsibility for the wellbeing of children and young people. Members of the public should remain alert to circumstances in which children and young people may be harmed. Individuals can assist the statutory agencies by bringing cases to their attention. Relatives, friends and neighbours of children and young people are particularly well placed to do so, but they must know what to do if they are concerned.

Because of the difficult and sensitive nature of the situation, people must be confident that any information they provide will be treated in a sensitive way and used only to protect the interest of the child. They should know that early action on their part is often the best way of helping a family stay together as well as protecting the child.

Contact numbers for those with a concern are listed in Appendix 2
